Hot Wage Battles Ahead

Unfair! Fantastic! Cries Raised At Police, Firemen's Demands

Saanich Force Highest

Torrid bargaining table battles lie ahead in Greater Victoria municipalities as policemen and firemen press their demands for wage boosts of 20 to 26½ per cent.

Saanich police bid for the highest boost to date—32½ cents an hour across the board, or 26½ per cent—in demands submitted to the police commission last night.

"UNREALISTIC"

"Unfair! Absolutely unrealistic! Fantastic! We just can't even consider it!" exclaimed shocked commissioners.

Victoria firemen and policemen are believed to be seeking, or prepared to seek a wage increase of slightly more than 20 per cent. Oak Bay firemen are expected to ask about the same when they meet a council committee at 5.15 p.m. today.

"THAT'S A HOLDUP"

"Talk about bargaining," Commissioner Stanley Eden snorted to police representatives. "That's a holdup."

Reeve Ash said the demands would cost Saanich an extra $18,000 to $20,000 a year.

In Victoria City, the firemen's wage request is rumored at 21 or 22 per cent, although City Manager C. C. Wyatt, Mayor Percy Scurrah and union officials have all refused to disclose the exact figure.

VANCOUVER RATE

This figure would fit in with the firemen's attempts over about a decade to catch up with their Vancouver counterparts in wages. The firemen have argued each year that their work is as skilled and hazardous as Vancouver firemen's, and the cost of living in Victoria is higher.

It would also be regarded in some quarters as sufficient reason for the mayor's outburst last week that one union of city employees had made an "absolutely unrealistic" and "ridiculous" wage demand.

LIKELY SIMILAR

The policemen, on a pay scale equivalent to the firemen's, are expected to make a similar request to the city police commission.

Mayor Scurrah, chairman of the three-man police commission, went along with council's decision to try to limit all city workers to a 5.22-per-cent pay increase this year, but made it plain that he was personally opposed to any increase.

The policemen therefore may or may not find the 5.22-per-cent "offer" open to them, since they negotiate with the commission, not the city manager.

In Debt? You're Normal

It's Tougher For Women

Some Have to Part With Own Children

(Seventh in a series on You and Your Debt)

By PETER BRUTON

Pity the plight of those divorced, separated or widowed women who are forced by circumstances to struggle along by themselves in an effort to support, feed and clothe a family.

They are, perhaps, the hardest hit of all.

To them a radio is something of a luxury—an item in the same unobtainable class as pork chops, fresh fruit or a new dress.

One young Victoria woman with three children found the struggle so bad she had no other course but to place her two youngest children in an orphanage a few months ago.

It was a heart-rending move, if only temporary.

"My eldest son and I have been forced to move from our home and we're looking for a housekeeping room close to town," said the woman. "We found that with the heating problem, electric bills, water and general maintenance it was too much on the budget."

She works; her son goes to school.

"We have meat on the average of twice a week, although I see my son has more if the budget bends," she said. "And then I hear people complaining that times are bad, that they can't keep up their payments on the television set or something like that!"

A serious illness a few weeks ago created still further havoc in her budgeting.

She has debts—debts brought about by her fight for survival; the $3 and $4 she owes the milkman, the money she owes the corner grocer who gave her food when she had no money to pay for it, the heat and lighting bills, way overdue.

Even Radio Too Much

"I have a radio but I can't keep up the payments," she said. "It will have to go back to the store where I bought it, soon."

And now she is faced with a large doctor's bill.

"My hopes for bringing the children home from the orphanage are lower now," she said yesterday.

Still weak from the effects of the operation, her problem now is: "Where do I go from here." So far she hasn't found the answer.

Admittedly there are few cases as bad as this.

"My main complaint," said another woman more or less in the same boat, "is that women can only earn half the salary of a man. It costs the same to live, yet I can only earn half the pay."

Many women forced to fend for themselves exist on a hand-to-mouth basis.

"You see," said one, "I have to work to make ends meet. "I have to pay the rent, buy the food and pay for a person to look after my daughter all day. After I pay for these I have nothing extra for debts or clothes or the other costs that crop up every day. It makes you feel like ending it all sometimes."

There is little wonder that people in such situations have no sympathy for those who get into trouble by buying cars, television sets or the biggest deep-freeze they can find.

They have enough trouble living without luxuries.

"I predict that if the people of North America neglect work to chase luxury they'll go out like the Roman Empire," said one elderly man.

He may be right.

Ready for Fight

The Liberal party will continue to "bark but not bite," Conservative Transport Minister George Hees jibed in Vancouver last night. Conservatives are "in first class shape and ready for an election any time," he reported after calling the Commons now a "fairyland" in which Liberals "attack our moves and then vote for them . . . it could go on ad infinitum."

City Hall Land Deal Still Likely

By R. O. MARRION

A deal for city hall and other nearby property as a site for a $7,000,000 Woodward's department store, acceptable both to Woodward Stores Ltd. and a majority of city council, is likely to be announced this week or early next week.

Despite the apparent interest of the firm in the Saanich municipal yard on Douglas as an alternative site for the store, negotiations in the city have been continuing and indications last night were that chances of the downtown development, recently described by Mayor Scurrah as "at a low ebb," have become good again.

Liberals Reject Plans

Rank-and-File Unhappy

Return to Grass Roots Laymen Tell Politicos

OTTAWA (CP)—Rank-and-file discontent from the floor Wednesday night forced the Liberal party's national convention organizers to refer back for further consideration their political organization committee's report.

The report, read by Senator C. G. (Chubby) Power of Quebec and Jacques Vadboncoeur of Montreal, proposed an immediate start in planning for the next general election. It called, however, for no changes in the National Liberal Federation's constitution.

AMENDMENT MOVED

J. J. Green of Renfrew, Ont., moved an amendment that majority representation at party conventions be from organizations at the constituency levels.

Irving Keith of Winnipeg, former vice-president of the National Liberal Federation, then moved a three-point amendment calling principally for a regulation that MPs and senators "be not qualified to be officers in our association."

Other points raised were that the federation presidency move from province to province every two years, and that national policy-making conventions be called at least every five years.

Mr. Keith said it was "an insult to all delegations" that they should be summoned to Ottawa just to have their members on the political organization committee "hand out to them mimeographed copies of the report."

"This is typical of what's been going on for a number of years and it's time we had a change," he said.

Parliamentarians had their own "clubrooms" on Parliament Hill. There was no reason for them to move to the Chateau Laurier Hotel, "put their feet under tables there and call themselves the National Liberal Federation."

"If our party is so poverty-stricken in laymen that it hasn't enough to form a federation then it is not fit to form a government," he said.

NO RECRIMINATION

Mr. Green said his amendment for riding-level representation was advanced "in no spirit of recrimination."

"But it is singular that the politician who cries most loudly for grass-roots representation is the politician who when in power neglected the grass roots."

Victory Pledged

OTTAWA (BUP) — It was Paul Martin who sounded the call to the next election last night, but convention observers were certain that it would be Lester Pearson who would lead the Liberal party to the hustings.

NATO Plan Given

Europe to Have Missile Battalions

ZURICH (Reuters)—NATO is planning to establish 10 missile battalions in continental Europe, a British staff officer from supreme allied headquarters said Wednesday night.

Each battalion, he said, will be equipped with some 15 missiles and manned by about 500 men.

Maj. Hugo Tobias gave these figures in a lecture at Zurich University on NATO strategy. He said NATO's five-year plan envisages installation of these "and other weapons of many types."

"These figures do not include the four bases planned for Britain," he said. "Because of the nature of these new weapons, there is no military need for placing the bases in any particular point in the NATO area.

"Indeed, it is not necessary or desirable that they should be based in every one of the NATO countries."

Whiff of Chlorine Floors 13 Islanders

CROFTON—Three men were rushed to hospital and 13 others treated at the scene after they were exposed to deadly chlorine gas Wednesday during tests in the new $38,000,000 pulp mill here.

One of three taken to hospital was released after treatment, but two others were still under observation at Chemainus General Hospital early today.

Reported in satisfactory condition at Chemainus General Hospital were Charles Stewart, 50, and Don Moroz, 59.

The 16 men were endangered when the gas escaped from a line into the test area in the pulp section of the B.C. Forest Products' Crofton pulp mill.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

All the magazines are turning into space travel guide books, nowadays.

The better magazines tell you how to build your own photon rocket, set a course for a galaxy several light-years away, and return in time for a luncheon date with your great-grandniece.

It is a poor magazine that doesn't tell you how to reach the moon.

Instructions on leaving this planet, couched in easy language, are being conveyed to every literate and semi-literate person, including many of us who can barely find our way home at night.

In case we have trouble figuring out the words, the articles are profusely illustrated with diagrams, mathematical formulae and pictures of little men building ranch-type space platforms or preparing the ground for fungus gardens on the moon.

As a result of all this, even people who are afraid of mice, dark cupboards or television are beginning to feel at home in outer space, because they have been there so often, in print.

Some observers of the human scene have earned applause by saying out loud that they do not intend to fly into space. They announce shrewdly that no matter what the rest of the mob does, THEY intend to keep their feet on the ground.

In Her Hour of Need

It is generous of them to promise to stay with the old planet in her hour of need, when everyone else is preparing to blast off.

However, they will have company. In spite of the how-to-build-it features about space rockets in the magazines and newspapers, and the glowing prose about the Martian landscape, nobody has yet gone far from home base.

That three-stage slogan "Tell 'em you're going to do it, tell 'em you're doing it, and tell 'em you've done it," may be a good proverb for the rocket age, but it seems to be running bottom-heavy just now.

The time has come for the first stage to fall away. Personally, I have been told all I want to hear about the things the space travellers are going to do. I intend to quit reading space travel stories for a while.

The next message of this kind that I absorb—if I live so long—will be a bulletin from Venus, saying that some Columbus of space has landed.

Until that time, I will switch back to reading about murder, robbery with violence, threats to exterminate all life with nuclear bombs, and other such homely topics.

Guaranteed Wage

Union Sets Pace

About 25 newly-organized employees of Victoria Paving Co. Ltd. have won a guaranteed annual wage in their first agreement.

The contract feature is unusual, if not unique, for hourly-rated employees in the Victoria area and may be precedent-setting.

FIRST IN UNION

Vernon Calkins, provincial representative of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and Other Transport Workers, said the provision, which provides a guaranteed annual wage of $1,800, is first in his 40,000-member union.

"We want to guarantee our people a reasonable income," he said. "In the construction industry, there is unemployment at certain times of the year, but regardless of whether Victoria Paving gets contracts or not, they must pay our workers $1,800 a year."

STABILITY SEEN

"The way things are going, it is a shame we didn't have GAW in every agreement," Mr. Calkins said. "If we had, industry would be a lot more stable."

The clause might be copied by similar operations in British Columbia, he said.

The union also won a 7½ per cent wage increase for most classifications, punitive overtime rates, three weeks paid vacation and seniority provisions. New laborers' rate is $1.70 an hour.

Candidates Speak

Pearson Favored

nomination speeches. He delivered a slashing attack on he new Conservative government and followed with a promise of individual social security and international peace if he is elected.

Martin, who received a break in the draw by being scheduled after his favored rival, spent less time with the Conservatives and more with how he could lead the party to victory. He promised the convention that, if elected, he would show them "an election campaign the likes of which has never before been seen in this country."

Long-shot candidate H. Lloyd Henderson, the mayor of Portage la Prairie, wound up the speeches with a call for "moral and imaginative leadership of a dynamic and progressive nature."

MARTIN FALTERS

Martin was given an edge on the nomination speeches on the basis of a brilliant, hard-driving first 15 minutes. For the last six minutes, however, he faltered badly as, his prepared text completed, he elected to ad-lib rather than sit down.

Pearson ranged over the whole realm of government activity as he delivered a scathing indictment of the Diefenbaker administration from unemployment and trade to agriculture and fiscal relations. He said Canada's prosperity is threatened "as it has not been since the Tories were last in power during the hungry thirties."

ACTION NEEDED

"Every move, every word (of the Government) is designed primarily to win an election," he said, "when this country needs vigorous, effective action to save us from grave trouble and restore the confidence in Canada which has been shaken."

Pearson did not promise victory for the party in the next federal election. Martin did.

"If I am entrusted with the leadership of the party, we—you and I—will restore Liberalism to its proper place in the country," the former health minister said. "We can win the next election whenever the Diefenbaker government dares to risk its life."

CROWD HUGE

Both men outlined what they believed were their qualifications for leadership to an Ottawa Coliseum, jammed with the largest crowd of the convention thus far — some 5,000 persons.

Pearson said he had been brought into politics by "a sense of public obligation and duty," and that he had the opportunity to view Canadian problems first-hand during his period in the government. He promised to devote "all the qualities I possess with energy, determination and honesty of purpose" to the leadership should he win it.

PROMISE GIVEN

Martin spoke of his 22 years in government and especially of his work as health minister. He added that he had organizational abilities and promised to take the message of Liberalism to "every hamlet, every town, every city in Canada from one end of the country to the other."

Henderson, faced with the difficult task of following the two main contenders, said he felt he could give the type of leadership the party needs and added that, "after listening to the speeches of Mr. Pearson and Mr. Martin, I am sure either of them can, too."

Warmly applauded despite the lack of visible signs of support for him, Henderson offered a unique analysis of the party's June 10 election defeat.

He said the Conservatives and Liberals had played "a game which the teenagers called chicken." They headed at each other down the middle of the road, he said, and "when Diefenbaker yelled 'chicken,' I'm afraid we moved a little off the road."

"But we are going to get back on it soon," he added.

Last night produced the first real hoopla and excitement of the convention. Before the speeches began there were sign processions—with Pearson placards in a definite majority—and a general atmosphere of gaiety pervaded the hall.

RACE TOSSUP

When both Pearson and Martin had completed their speeches and again after Henderson was finished, supporters of the two former cabinet ministers staged a vocal match "we want Mike" against "we want Paul." Vocally, the race seemed a tossup.

Just how successful the candidates were will not be known until tonight when the results of the voting are announced. Right now, however, the general consensus is that Martin will not draw 500 votes.

Housewife Still Missing From Home

Saanich police are still without a clue to the whereabouts of Mrs. Audrey Wilcox, the 27-year-old housewife who disappeared from her home at 3036 Tillicum at 6 p.m. Sunday.

The attractive blonde just walked out of the house without explanation.

Anyone with information concerning Mrs. Wilcox, five feet two inches tall and weighing about 100 pounds, is asked to phone the home, 5-1990, or Saanich police.

Trail Riders Plan Bigger Horse Shows

Expansion of annual horse shows at Sidney on July 1 and Albert Head in August is planned by Colwood Trail Riders.

At its annual meeting Sunday, the group also decided to increase its size in Victoria's May 24 parade.

Wes Goddard was re-elected president of the group and Floyd Adams was returned as treasurer.

Also elected were Darrell Walker, vice-president; Donna Rutherford, secretary; and as committee chairmen, Bob Henson, Marie Olmstead, Tom Flynn, Fred Wells, Connie Walker, Floyd Adams and Bill Grace.

Threshing in January in southern Alberta has been possible this year because of balmy weather. Frank Ainsworth, who stacked oats on his 160-acre farm west of Calgary for threshing in the spring, takes advantage of 51-degree weather to keep ahead of his work.—(CP)

Pearkes Says:

'U.S. Retaliation Our Only Defence'

President Is Man To Push Button

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Western world's only deterrent against the intercontinental ballistic missile is the retaliatory power of the United States, Defence Minister Pearkes said here Wednesday.

He made clear at a press conference that the man who "presses the button" to bring the retaliatory power into play is the president of the United States.

"Under the present system of things," he said, "the president of the U.S. is the one man who could start our retaliatory forces going."

NOT ONLY ONE

He added: "But that does not mean that he is the one man who could start our defence forces going if Russia attacked."

The defence minister said the chance of war in the immediate future is very remote.

"Retaliation is our best safeguard for peace," he said, "and the Russians are no fools—they know our powers of retaliation."

He warned also that "once we lower our powers of retaliation we can expect the first blow."

"WE'RE AHEAD"

"We're not behind the Russians—we are way out ahead of them.

"Sputnik was a great scientific breakthrough, but I still maintain that we are strong and that we are getting stronger now that western nations are permitting missile launching sites at strategic points."

Mr. Pearkes said that no U.S. Strategic Air Command bomber carrying nuclear or thermonuclear bombs flies over Canada without prior permission of Canadian authorities.

He agreed that in the event of war such flights would be covered by an agreement between Canada and the U.S., but said this agreement "has not reached the written word stage."

He said that when the agreement is drafted it will be presented to Parliament for full debate.

Recently returned from the NATO summit conference in Paris, the defence minister denied suggestions that many European nations were not happy with the U.S. request to place intermediate-range missiles within their borders.

"I heard many prime ministers say they were glad to accept the generosity of the U.S. in this matter, and I am certain the U.S. will have no difficulty in finding the number of positions for missile launching they require for defence."

Tanker Breaks; Crew Rescued

PALMA DE MALLORCA (UP) — All 38 crewmen of a Norwegian tanker that mysteriously broke in two off this west Mediterranean pleasure island yesterday were saved in three dramatic rescue operations.

Twenty-eight of the crew were taken from the stern of the 9,974-ton Sierstad shortly after the ship split in a calm sea.

While the 8,274-ton Dutch tanker Pintang was effecting the rescue, the forward half of the Sierstad drifted off with 10 other men aboard.

The wind started rising and they were feared lost despite a fleet of ships from a half-dozen nations searching for them.

Last night the Italian freighter Rubicone radioed it had found and rescued seven of the men. A Malta naval headquarters message received here an hour later said an unidentified merchant ship picked up the last three.

Thief Steals CPR Locomotive

Strange Highball

Sheepish Train Crew Found Track Empty

WINNIPEG (BUP)—A thief stole a Canadian Pacific Railway diesel locomotive at Winnipeg yesterday and highballed it a mile down the track and right off the rails.

The unsuspecting crew was taking a 30-minute lunch break at the time. Baffled railwaymen recovered the stolen locomotive in nearby Brooklands, derailed on a stop-lock used to prevent trains from rolling on to the main line.

BRAKE LOCKED

The crewmen said that before leaving the train they had set the controls and locked the brake so that it would be impossible for the engine to roll out on its own. Railway officials said the thief must have had a working knowledge of a diesel locomotive.

The crew said that when they returned from lunch they found an empty track. Thinking another crew had taken the locomotive, the engineer checked with the control tower. They were told the locomotive had last been seen "going west." The engine had clear sailing and switches in its favor for a mile.

CREW ANONYMOUS

CPR police are investigating. They said damage was slight, and the engine stayed upright after leaving the tracks.

CPR officials declined to identify the crew because "they would feel a litle sheepish about losing the engine."

'Banks Pulled Gun'

OTTAWA — A move to have U.S.-born labor strongman Hal Banks deported was made from the floor of the House of Commons yesterday.

H. W. Herridge (CCF—Kootenay West) said he had spoken with men "who have told me that they have witnessed Mr. Harold Banks pull a gun on a seaman in his office and have him beaten unmercifully by another colleague of Mr. Banks with a short piece or rubber hose."

Got 'Oiled' On Oil Cash; Ends in Jail

EDMONTON (CP) — Jail terms were given three men and a woman Wednesday on charges involving illegal applications for 39 Alberta oil and gas royalty dividends.

Donald Stewart Nelson, who admitted obtaining 16 of the 20 dividends illegally, received 8 months in jail.

Louis Bourgeouis received the same term when he admitted drawing seven dividends by misrepresentation.

Madeline Ward, convicted of obtaining five dividends by fraud, received three months in jail.

Robert G. Green, who admitted obtaining 11 dividends by fraud and using the money to buy liquor, received five months in jail. He spent a month in hospital with an illness brought on by heavy drinking.

A Fine Step Forward

ASSURANCE by Mr. George Pearkes that the defence ministry, which owns the property, would give sympathetic consideration to transfer of the Gordon Head camp area and adjacent property for use as a university campus, is an important and welcome development. It is a natural one also, in view of the emphasis on university education given by recent Russian successes. The need for more graduate students of distinction is being noted all over the North American continent.

Equally pleasing is the joining of Victoria College council and the university sub-committee of the Chamber of Commerce, previously acting unilaterally towards a common goal, but now united in action and agreed on the Gordon Head area as ideal for the expansion of Victoria College to degree-awarding status. Even now some of the army camp buildings at Gordon Head could be put to good practical use.

The vital step is to secure the land before building development swallows up the opportunity. The army camp has already been discontinued, and Defence Minister Pearkes stated some time ago it was unlikely to be reopened as such. Together with the adjacent property it is admirably suited for university purposes. In view of all the factors involved there is no real reason why the area concerned could not be donated by the defence ministry, and this aspect of the matter should appeal to the government. In the present state of the world universities are a part of national defence.

The immediate reaction of both Mayor Scurrah and Reeve Ash, to do everything possible to pave the way by relinquishing any claims on the property, is what was to be expected. Both are aware of the high priority which a university for Victoria is acquiring in the minds of most people. All four greater Victoria councils in fact can be counted on to support the steadily increasing move in this direction. The value of a university to this area, and to the province as well, is becoming more widely recognized every day.

The time should not be far distant therefore when current hopes become a reality. Alberta has recognized the need for a second university, and Saskatchewan is approaching the same stage. With a campus site secured, and the prospects for this could now scarcely be more favorable, all that is required is for the project to be pursued with the backing of the whole community. In the meanwhile both the College council and the Chamber of Commerce committee are to be congratulated on the unanimity they bring to bear on the matter.

Useful Work for Winter

DUAL advantage should accrue to British Columbia if the provincial government's proposed program of winter construction works at public camp sites and picnic grounds can be satisfactorily arranged with the Dominion government. Money spent on the suggested projects would help appreciably to take up the slack of seasonal employment and at the same time make possible worthwhile and permanent improvement of playgrounds which are among British Columbia's best tourist attractions and therefore revenue earners for the country. If some form of temporary relief is necessary during the first few months of the year, funds could not be better spent.

The federal government's offer of assistance on a 50-50 sharing basis is generous in the circumstances, bearing in mind the fact that this will be expenditure on parks which in the ordinary course are wholly a provincial responsibility. The condition that at least half the expenditure should go for wages is reasonable since the purpose is to create temporary employment; and it should not be hard for B.C. to meet because the projects are of a type not calling for much in the way of materials or machinery.

Provincial Recreation Minister Westwood has in mind a variety of projects in many parts of the province estimated to cost in the neighborhood of $700,000. That may be aiming a little high in the matter of federal participation in view of the fact that the appropriation for the whole of Canada is $1,000,000. However, the Dominion government's stipulation that work must be completed by May 31 favors British Columbia, where climatic conditions are more suitable for winter work than in most of the other provinces.

Hospital Impost Obsolete

BRITISH COLUMBIA municipalities are on sound ground in asking the provincial government to do away with the 70 cents per diem impost on civic coffers in respect of each patient taken to hospital from within their limits. Although there was some reason for this provision at the outset—that of seeing the municipalities did not overload a tentative provincial hospital insurance scheme before its financing had been properly consolidated—that excuse has disappeared.

When this province switched the cost of the hospital scheme over to the provincially-collected sales tax there remained no real reason for the continuation of the special levy on the municipalities. Almost all of the costs of the scheme were borne then by the sales tax, administration and collection of which have been in the province's hands. The per diem levy on the hospitals took on at the same time something of the form of a tax on a tax, because it was from within the municipalities' confines that most of the sales tax was, and is, being raised.

If this was the position when the provincial government took over full control of the hospital insurance scheme, it will certainly be emphasized afresh when the Dominion assumes its half-share of hospital insurance; for even the half-share of the Dominion will be coming from a federal tax raised in just the same centres. There, and little hidden, would be a compounding of double levies. As the future of hospital insurance benefits in Canada seems destined to rest on a national basis before long, is it not time to let the municipalities off their hook? They have commitments enough now, without imposts representing services which have long since ceased to be under their direction or control in any fashion. The per diem per patient "grant" from the municipalities may have been necessary when hospital schemes were in embryo, but it has long since outworn all equity and the last shred of its usefulness. This levy on the municipalities should be repealed.

Interpreting the News:

Return to UN Charter Open

By CHARLES M. McCANN

United Press Staff Correspondent

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER has proposed to Soviet Russia a practical and logical solution of cold war differences between East and West.

It is simply that the Soviet government, after more than 12 years, start to make its obligations under the United Nations Charter the basis of its foreign policy.

There has been some complaint, both in foreign countries and in the United States, that there was nothing dramatic or even new in the letter the president has sent to Soviet Premier Bulganin.

There is considerable feeling in Allied as well as in neutral countries that Bulganin, in the letters with which he has bombarded countries all over the world, has won the diplomatic initiative.

Eisenhower, in his replies to the two letters Bulganin sent to him, did make some important proposals of his own.

One of them was that nuclear-powered missiles be launched only for peaceful purposes.

Another was that a "summit" meeting on cold war issues might be held if secret diplomatic exchanges, then a meeting of foreign ministers, showed that there was real hope of agreement.

These proposals got the headlines in the reports of the president's letter.

But the president put his greatest emphasis on the fact that the UN Charter, if Russia ever started to observe it, would make a summit meeting unnecessary.

Eisenhower cited the charter on six specific points in his letter. He said that the Charter provides for the collective security which Russia says it wants, and makes the UN Security Council primarily responsible for maintaining it. But he pointed out that Russia has used its veto power 82 times to prevent the council from carrying out its duties.

He reminded Russia that the Charter authorizes regional treaties for self-defence such as the North Atlantic Treaty Organization which the Soviet government so bitterly denounces as aggressive.

In reply to Bulganin's proposal that the big powers respect the independence of Middle Eastern countries, and renounce the use of force in settling Middle Eastern issues, President Eisenhower pointed out that the Charter covers that situation.

As to Bulganin's proposal for a non-aggression pact, Eisenhower pointed out that the Charter contains a pledge against aggression.

On Bulganin's proposal for a pledge that the United States, Great Britain and Russia promise not to use nuclear weapons, Eisenhower pointed out that the Charter pledges UN members not to use any weapons at all against the territory or independence of any state.

"Why, no — I haven't been sitting on that report"

Thinking Aloud

Gerald Waring

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

MY bookish friends being more modest than anglers their conversations are not spiced by the number of books they read. Perhaps, thinking of Hitler, they feel outnumbered.

Reading tales, however, are apt to be as apocryhpal as fishing stories. Once while a young man T. E. Lawrence remarked that he'd read all the 40,000 books of his college library, which 40 years later caused a malicious biographer to tear his veracity to pieces.

Lawrence, probably, who was fond of puzzling statements, was pulling someone's leg.

* * *

In Time magazine anyway that New England literary sage, Van Wyck Brooks, is quoted as saying: "How tiresome and how untrue" — to both the Lawrence and the Hitler legends. And to American novelist Thomas Wolfe also, who lived only 38 years but was credited with devouring some 20,000 books.

Some people read quickly, of course. Yours truly secretly fancies his capacity in this respect but he is benumbed by figures like those cited above. If a person read a book a day, remember—and who can do that and fix the fence, attend cocktail parties and watch TV, let alone earn a living—he'd only manage in a reading lifetime of 40 years to cope with 14,610 books, period.

Certain book reviewers, who write weekly on half-a-dozen or more books, would appear to exceed this rate but appearances can be deceptive.

There is reading and reading, naturally. If one only skims a book to get the gist of the plot and be able to talk socially on literary matters it were better simply to swallow the blurb on the book's jacket. Really to read a book suggests some savoring of the style and wordage, of the development of character, or, if it be non-fiction, of some absorption of the subject matter. Even if one is gifted with rapid vision and comprehension, as some bookmen undoubtedly are, one can't race through books harum-scarum and be a reader.

* * *

The other day a London bookseller, celebrating his golden wedding, confessed that when he was a youth he hoped to read everything. The 20,000 new books published last year he viewed much as a man in a bathing suit might who saw the Fraser River in flood rushing down on him. Quite obviously he had long since given up his grandiose youthful ambition.

The Mr. Brooks aforesaid is further quoted thus: "For the last 20 years I have been obliged to read on an average six or seven hours a day . . . and how many books have I read in those 20 years? Something less than 6,000, I think, less than a book a day."

Even a single book a week, if the pace be sustained, is a rate not to be sneezed at. This would mean after 50 years a mere 2,600 books, which seems a lamentably small number until you think the matter over. Yet many a private library in Victoria can count more books than that.

How many do you read in a week or a year, dragging yourself away from TV?

Reports from Ottawa

WHATEVER doubts the Liberal convention has about Mike Pearson as leader are certain to be centered on his qualities as a practical politician.

His comparative inexperience in the seamier side of politics—the cutthroat and often not too ethical manoeuvering for political advantage — is the only visible weakness of his bid for the party leadership. Conversely, Paul Martin's greatest asset is that he is a politician's politician.

Stories are legion about the redoubtable Paul's prowess in bamboozling votes. For example, he makes a point of "recognizing" members of his audience by name—after having had them pointed out in advance by local Liberals.

Last election a man came up to Martin and recalled they had met on Manitoulin Island but he guessed that Mr. Martin wouldn't remember him.

"Remember you?" said Martin. "Of course I do. It was in the Legion Hall, and you were standing down on the floor to the right of the stage, and we shook hands and chatted for a few minutes."

The man beamed, and no doubt voted Liberal. A friend asked Martin how he did it. "Simple," explained Paul. "I was only on Manitoulin once in my life, and everybody I met there was in a reception at the right of the stage."

* * *

The idea that an intimate knowledge of the tricks of the trade is essential in a successful party leader is belied by Louis St. Laurent's record of political achievement which includes, in 1949, the greatest parliamentary majority ever won by a Canadian prime minister.

Nevertheless, there may be a feeling among the delegates — this is written before the convention opened — that Pearson, who has operated mainly on the high plane of international politics, may not be able to get down to the level of grass roots issues so important in winning national elections.

However, there is evidence that the metamorphosis of Pearson the statesman into Pearson the politician is far progressed. His comments in Parliament and out on the Tories' trade policies have been as caustic as any I've heard or read. His warm defence of Quebec's "distinctive and accepted position in regard to race, language and culture" is the stuff Quebec demands of those who aspire to win Quebec support.

* * *

One of Martin's handicaps is that he is an Irish-French Catholic seeking to succeed a French-Irish Catholic, which many hold to be counter to the Laurier-King-St. Laurent "tradition."

I put "tradition" in quotes because I suspect it is less a genuine tradition than an opportunistic Liberal appeal for Quebec votes of other years which has now become a Liberal strait jacket.

Be that as it may, I know that some English-speaking Liberals are relieved that the new leader is almost certain to be the English-Canadian Mike Pearson. This is not racial antagonism. Just alarmed realization that June 10 left the Grits on the verge of becoming a French-Canadian group in Parliament.

It is obvious that a continuation of this situation would be a disaster from which the party might not recover. It is equally obvious that the appeal to English-Canadian voters of another French-Canadian leader, or one who could be called French-Canadian, would be of doubtful effectiveness in reversing this particular trend of June 10.

Subsidized Absurdity

(From The Calgary Albertan)

THERE has probably never been a better illustration of the foolishness of government subsidies than that offered by the mess in which the United States department of agriculture now finds itself. The department has recently announced that its last year's "soil bank" program was a howling success. The government paid out $614,000,000 to some 900,000 farmers for not growing any wheat, corn, cotton, rice or tobacco. If these farmers had harvested their crops the government would have been stuck for an estimated $1,000,000,000 to buy up and store the surplus.

What makes the whole thing even more ridiculous is the fact that thousands of the people receiving soil bank payments are not even farmers but shrewd speculators who bought marginal lands dirt cheap and are getting paid for not even going near the land. There are well-authenticated reports of smart operators being paid to not plant their land to wheat and then planting it to some other crop which the government is forced to buy at set prices under the so-called farm law.

To add to the burden of the taxpayer, it now seems that even with some 21,300,000 acres retired from production in 1957, crop production was at least as high as previous record years. In an attempt to cut production, the United States plans to retire at least 30,000,000 more acres in 1958 which will mean many thousands more "farmers" getting rich at the taxpayers' expense.

No one begrudges the honest, hard-working farmer a decent return on his labor and investment, and there is no doubt that in many cases in Canada the farmer has been getting short shrift for some years now. But the experience in the United States should surely point out that merely subsidizing agriculture, or any other industry for that matter, will never solve any basic problem. Rather it will raise new problems of remarkable complexity.

Save the Apostrophe

(From The Toronto Star)

SOME school principal in Scotland thinks wed save ourselves trouble by scrapping the apostrophe. No doubt hell fire a lot of people with enthusiasm for this spelling reform, but well bet the majority will disagree with him when he says it doesnt help with the pronunciation of written words.

And howre we going to write about such things as Trustee Ross campaign promises if we cant use an apostrophe? Three ss look silly and two ss dont indicate a possessive in this case. Were sure Trustee Rossd be the first to disagree with her fellow-educator from the Clyde. Admittedly the apostrophe is a nuisance sometimes, for we never know whether to write St. James' church or St. James's church, but itd be more of a nuisance learning to read without it.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

WHAT would we do if, on answering a ring on the front door bell, we found a well-dressed gentleman standing there who burst into a loud, clear commercial?

At the top of his well-modulated lungs, he would start reciting the merits of some soap powder in each and every package of which there is a premium in the shape of a sterling silver table napkin ring.

Suppose the door bell kept ringing all day, from about 7 a.m. to midnight. And every time we answered there would be the well-dressed gentleman facing us, shouting his spiel.

It is the most astonishing thing about radio and TV, the people we not only don't slam our doors on, but actually invite in to sit with us.

The fall fair, midway, circus spielers are bad enough. Even if it isn't kitchen gadgets, fabulous paring knives or miraculous food choppers our announcers are selling, most of them sound like side-alley pitchmen. But when it comes to entertainers, how many of the actual performers would we admit into our homes in person? Jazz molls, corner boys, hot and hep. There is a song now fading from the air called, as far as I can make out, "Rockabilly." The quartets and soloists who perform it hardly ever pronounce it Rockabilly. They call it Rackabilly. Real tough. Rack-rack-rack, they shout. Rackabilly.

Ya gotta be tough to sing Rackabilly. Out of the side of your mouth. That is, to get on the big networks, or in the million class of records.

We'd send for the police if they called at the door. But we let them come in through the magic box and sit on the sofa with us.

'102 Below'

Winter in Antarctica

By THOMAS R. HENRY

Science Editor, North American Newspaper Alliance

INTERNATIONAL Geophysical Year parties in the Antarctic experienced the coldest winter ever known to man—or, for that matter, by any plants or animals.

How cold was it? The National Academy of Sciences now has compiled the first set of reliable statistics for an Antarctic winter. It is based on daily weather reports from United States and other outposts on the frozen continent.

As might be expected, the lowest temperatures were recorded at the extreme bottom of the world — the South Pole. The thermometer dropped to 102.1 degrees below zero on September 17 and 100.4 below on May 11.

These were really cold days, even for the South Pole. The mean temperature throughout the winter was minus 73 degrees. Seventeen times the thermometer sank below minus 95. There was one "warm" day when it rose as high as minus 26 degrees.

High winds were almost continuous, with gusts of more than 50 miles an hour. Throughout the winter there were only 25 hours of calm weather.

The first 17 days of September were the coldest of the year. The average was minus 83, and during one four-day period the temperature remained below 90 degrees.

* * *

Even so, this may have been a fairly mild winter. A low of minus 112 had been forecast and the late Admiral Richard E. Byrd had said temperatures might even drop to minus 150.

Next winter, when the Russians occupy a station at the "pole of inaccessibility," even colder temperatures are expected to be recorded. The "pole of inaccessibility" is the most difficult place to reach in Antarctica. It is higher than the South Pole and much farther from the moderating influence of the sea.

Compared to the South Pole the North Pole is almost tropical. The lowest temperature ever recorded in the far north was 90 below in inland Siberia. At the pole itself readings below minus 50 are quite rare. This is because the North Pole is surrounded by a very deep sea. The ice pack which covers most of the surface of the Arctic Ocean is able to conduct heat to the atmosphere from the relatively warm, deep ocean below.

With the Classics

For thou will lie upon the wings of night
Whiter than new snow on a raven's back.
Come, gentle night; come, loving, black-brow'd night,
Give me my Romeo; and, when he shall die,
Take him and cut him out in little stars,
And he will make the face of heaven so fine
That all the world will be in love with night,
And pay no worship to the garish sun.

Letters to the Editor

Working Mothers

It is really not much good trying to stop "moonlighting" unless something is done about the employment of married women—especially those whose husbands are gainfully employed, and who have a family needing mother's care.

Much of the cause of unemployment today is selfishness on the part of both labor and capital. One wants too much wages for too little work, the other wants too [illegible] little [illegible].

What we really need is to keep the Golden Rule and see that everyone has a chance of earning a living wage.

E. W. ABRAHAM,

'Moonlighting'

Gradually we are being deprived of many of our individual liberties, and it behooves us carefully to examine every new approach such as the much debated "moonlighter" question.

There is at present a law, and rightly so, to protect the worker from being forced to work too long hours by his employer, but there is no law, except mob law, to prevent him from working as many hours as he wishes for his own and his family's benefit, but the unions are attempting to bring about such legislation.

Opponents of "moonlighters" argue that they are depriving other workers of jobs, but this is debatable, as the work they do may indirectly keep open other workers' jobs, by the distribution of the increased earnings.

The unions themselves are one of the main causes of unemployment even amongst their own members by continually demanding higher and higher wages, thereby pricing their product out of the market.

Lunatic 'Sportsmen'

My hope is that this letter may catch the eye of some or all the lunatic would-be "sportsmen" who today invaded Sooke Harbor with 15 or more boats and apparently tried to shoot every bird irrespective of variety, on or over the water, and succeeded in killing quite a number, I believe, and wounding many others that I know of, and for what?

Is it because they hate all life, and ducks in particular, and wish to stop them producing more ducks in the spring, that they make a raid like this on the unhappy birds and so celebrate the last few hours when they may be legally shot?

I'm glad to believe that most of these would-be "sportsmen" came out from town and were not Sooke men.

But—and here is a thought—is it any wonder we hear of so much juvenile delinquency and crime if the parents of the youngsters and the general public have no thought or feeling for animal life of which we are a part?

R. SEMBER,

Sooke, B.C.

Dental Health

In discussing factors relating to tooth decay, pros and cons resolve on the effects of fluorine in the water supply as a preventative of tooth decay. There is considerable evidence by researchers that fluorine in the proper amount prevents tooth decay. Is there evidence by researchers that lack of fluorine is the cause or reason of tooth decay? If so, can it be explained why there are varying degrees of susceptibility to tooth decay among children of the same family with the same mouth hygiene habits?

There are other factors that have a bearing on tooth decay; such as evidence by researchers in the field of nutrition that vitamins and minerals contribute to the health of the teeth. It appears that some vitamins and minerals in the right combination are responsible for the formation of good, hard, well formed teeth. Improper amounts of vitamins and minerals result in abnormal conditions. Absence of vitamin C means cessation of production of tooth structure, the dentine, enamel, and cementum. With insufficient vitamin C, formative cells of the teeth cannot carry on their normal functions.

I would suggest to all concerned that further investigation might yield handsome rewards; that no approach to the subject should be dismissed until it is thoroughly studied from all angles, including freedom of choice of the individual. The freedom of choice should be jealously guarded. The greater the freedom of personal choice, the greater the safeguard to a free democratice way of life.

Ford Pulls Back

DETROIT (UP)—Ford Motor Co., which launched the new Edsel cars with a big splash last fall into a fast-evaporating medium-priced car market, yesterday pulled back and made the Edsel division a part of its Lincoln-Mercury division.

The company also gave new emphasis to the growing market for foreign-built small cars by turning over the marketing job for its English Ford lines to the new, consolidated division.

The consolidating of the Edsel and Lincoln-Mercury divisions into a new "M-E-L Division" climaxed a series of shifts and cutbacks in the Edsel organization.

100 Left Homeless In Big Quebec Fire

LEVIS, Que. (CP)—A $1,500,000 blaze, fanned by high winds, raced through the midtown business district Wednesday destroying 10 buildings, damaging others and leaving about 100 persons homeless.

Several firemen, including Levis Fire Chief J. A. L. Arsenault, suffered burns, but no one was seriously injured.

Levis, a community of about 13,000 persons, is directly across St. Lawrence River from Quebec City.

The blaze started shortly after 8 a.m. at the rear of a five-storey furniture establishment.

Gusts of wind up to 50 miles an hour spread flames rapidly through 10 buildings before the blaze was brought under control shortly after 1 p.m.

Levelled were the Legare building, housing a company store and warehouse; the Levis Textile Company, a rug-making establishment employing about 100 persons; a service station; a barber shop and six homes. Five of the homes were two-unit dwellings.

Heavily damaged by flames, smoke and water was the four-storey Plante building which houses Bell Telephone Company offices, a physical culture studio, a dentist's office, a lingerie store and two apartments.

Cause of the blaze was not immediately known.

Rev. Alexander Finlay Munro, who came to British Columbia as minister of Duncan Presbyterian Church, died in Vancouver Monday.

He was former secretary of the Vancouver Presbytery of the United Church of Canada and church columnist for a Vancouver newspaper.

Support for Kilburn

Ousted Sunday night as general manager of the Victoria Cougars and the centre of a stormy debate among club shareholders and city fans, Colin Kilburn received a tremendous ovation when he skated on the ice for last night's Western Hockey League game at Memorial Arena. Some fans showed up with placards, similar to the signs displayed by 12-year-old Barnie Spaven (left), and Ken Henderson, in support of Kilburn.—(Colonist photo by Jim Ryan)

Cougars Flash Form But Lose Another; Fans Give Kilburn Rousing Reception

By JIM TANG

Colin Kilburn, playing for the first time in two seasons as just one of the players, was the only one of the Victoria Cougars who could derive any satisfaction out of last night's Western Hockey League game against Seattle Americans at Memorial Arena.

The chunky leftwinger, who started the season as manager-coach, received a rousing ovation from the fans when the lineups were announced and was cheered every time he stepped on the ice. But the Cougars lost their seventh game in a row, blowing 2-0 and 3-2 leads on their way to another one-goal defeat, this time by a 4-3 score.

Young fans paraded around the arena between periods bearing signs which carried such messages as "Kilburn all the Way"—"We want Colin"—"Kilburn for us" and "Colin is out man." Some of the more partisan fans even went so far as to boo coach Pat Egan, somewhat spoiling the demonstration for the ex-manager of the Cougars.

Kilburn turned in a sound game, figuring in both goals scored by Ed Dorohoy, but it was his line, unfortunately, which was on the ice when the Americans rapped in the tying and winning goals only 42 seconds apart midway through the third period.

The game itself was one of the best of the season. New crackdown on rules designed to speed up play worked to perfection. There wasn't one instance of freezing the puck against the boards and stoppages of play were few.

FAVORABLE COMMENTS

Result was a fast, wide-open display of hockey which drew many favorable comments from the good mid-week crowd of 2,800 fans. The second period, particularly, was a brilliantly-played 20 minutes, with the Cougars flashing perhaps their best hockey of the season during that time.

But they couldn't score more than once despite some pretty passing, especially by smooth Gordie Wilson, who time and again came up with great plays but couldn't get more than one assist for his efforts. Seattle goalie Hank Bassen played extremely well under the pressure but also had luck on his side as the Cougars got the worst of the breaks several times when a goal seemed certain.

Cougars grabbed an early lead as Doug Macauley shot his 16th goal and Dorohoy followed with his 23rd. But ex-Cougar Alex Kuzma cut the lead in two just two minutes later when his hard shot slipped through Emile Francis' hands and Ray Kinasewich tied it up in the last minute of the period while Cougars played shorthanded.

DOROHOY'S SECOND

Dorohoy's second goal came at 7.38 of the second period on a high shot on which Bassen got caught too far out of goal. Then followed five minutes of exceptional hockey as the Wilson-Macauley-Syverson line poured rubber at Bassen in a display which brought fans off their hands.

Cougars appeared to let down a bit in the third period but were holding their own when Gordie Sinclair took a tripping penalty trying to stop a dangerous Cougar attack.

Baliuk, Haworth and Boyce were unable to get a power play going and the Cougars switched lines, sending out Dorohoy and the two Kilburns. Seconds later, the Americans got a three-man break and, of course, it was Don Chiupka who was on the spot to hoist the rebound off a shot by Filion past Francis.

It was the 13th goal of the season for the former Cougar, the 11th against his old teammates.

The winner came before the groans had subsided, a passout deflected past Francis at 11.07 on what appeared to be a harmless play.

Cougars fought hard for overtime but they couldn't resistent Seattle checking kept them from getting any close-in shots. Francis was taken out for a sixth attacker with 90 seconds left and the Americans got a two-on-one break in the last minute but failed to score when Egan managed to smother the shot.

Cougars play at New Westminster Saturday and at Seattle on Sunday, then get a rest until the following Saturday, when they host the speedy Edmonton Flyers in an inter-divisional game.

England Wins

LIVERPOOL, Eng. (Reuters) — England beat Scotland, 3-1, in a soccer international here Wednesday night in fog so thick that players were visible to spectators only when play was near the sidelines.

Scotland took an early lead on Alec Young's goal but England struck back on two goals by Joe Hayes and one by Jimmy Murray.

Colorful Bionda May Accept Offer to Join Salmonbellies

Rumors that Jack Bionda had signed to play with New Westminster Salmonbellies of the Inter-City Lacrosse League were denied by the Victoria Shamrocks last night but club president Wil Wilson admitted that Bionda had been in receipt of an offer from the Royal City club and that "there is a possibility that he won't be back with us."

It has been reported that Bionda is not anxious to return to Victoria and that he has agreed to go to New Westminster, where he is to take over as coach of the minor lacrosse leagues there. He was employed in a similar capacity here last summer.

"He hasn't signed a contract, I can tell you that definitely," Wilson said last night. "I was speaking to him recently and there is the possibility he won't be back with us. He is interested, as any professional player is, in any offer and I believe that he has received one from the Salmonbellies."

Bionda, of course, would have to apply for a transfer and it is expected that the Shamrocks will fight any move to have their colorful star move to another club in the ICLL.

"I can't comment on that," Wilson said when asked. "That would be a decision to be made by the directors."

However, if Bionda is serious about going to the Royals and can't get a release from the Shamrocks he can apply to the ICLL commission. What the ruling would be is a matter of conjecture but it seems reasonable to presume that league officials will see to it that Bionda plays with some ICLL club. He is lacrosse's biggest attraction.

Loss of Bionda would be a big one for the Shamrocks who face a rebuilding program this season and who are not expected to have either Bob Dobie or Don Gear with them this year.

Bionda, ICLL scoring champion in 1954 with 48 goals and 34 assists and again last year with 68 goals and 36 assists would certainly make the Salmonbellies the club to beat if he should line up with them.

Salmonbellies have already signed John Coleman, one of the better players with last year's beaten Mann Cup finalists, the Long Branch Pontiacs. And there are reports that Bob Pulford, ace rookie with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League and a standout star in last year's Minto Cup final, might also go to New Westminster. Pulford, it is believed, is being sought by the Shamrocks.

Aussies Continue Attack on Records; Martinez Earns Chance at NBA Crown

Australian swimmers continued their amazing onslaught of world records at Sydney Wednesday night when sensational 15-year-old Jon Konrads claimed his third and fourth world marks in less than a week, and 19-year-old John Monckton lowered two recognized marks.

One of Australia's newest swimming finds, the Latvian-born Konrads, shattered the 400-metre and 440-yard free-style records in the New South Wales championships. He was timed in 4.25.9 in bettering the mark held by Murray Rose of Australia by 1.1 seconds for the 400 metres and 1.2 seconds for 440 yards.

Monckton easily surpassed the world standard for 200 metres and 220 yards in the backstroke event, winning in 2.18.8.

Jon's latest feat boosted to six the number of world records set by his 13-year-old sister, Ilsa, and himself during the championships.

Ilsa Wednesday night became the first woman swimmer to break five minutes in three successive 440 freestyle events. She was timed in four minutes, 59.9 seconds in winning the event by half a lap over Corrie Schimmel of Holland in the Victorian championships.

Stylish Vince Martinez of Patterson, N.J., earned a shot at the National Boxing Association's version of the world welterweight boxing championship last night with a 12-round split decision over Gil Turner in their nationally-televised bout in Philadelphia.

In states where boxing is under NBA control, the fight was regarded as a semi-final elimination, with Martinez to fight Isaac Logart for the title vacated by Carmen Basilio.

However, the World Boxing Championship Committee, headed by Julius Helfand, says nothing doing. It will recognize a winner of an elimination between Martinez, Logart, Turner, Gasper Ortega, George Barnes and Virgil Akins as champion, and regards last night's bout as only one of a series of eliminations toward that end.

HENNESSEY LEADS: Big Tom Hennessey of St. Louis skidded to a mediocre six-game 1,156 series Wednesday but retained his lead in the all-star bowling tournament at the mid-way point of the semi-finals. Campbells Face Ban By Ontario Curlers

TORONTO (CP)—A special meeting of the Ontario Curling Association Friday may discuss whether Don and Garnet Campbell, two members of the famed curling clan from Avonlea, Sask., should be ruled professional and ineligible to compete in OCA events.

The meeting will discuss whether professionals should be ruled out of competitions.

W. E. McMurtry, OCA secretary, said Wednesday there is no question that the Campbells brothers are both members of have accepted money for teaching curling. The Campbell the rink which represented Saskatchewan in the Canadian curling championship last March.

R. K. Metcalf of the Royal Canadian Curling Club hired Don as a curling instructor for this season. Since the start of the season, Don has been teaching at the club and Garnet has made a tour of various clubs in Ontario, giving lessons.

Basilio Anxious for Rematch But Sugar Ray Pulls Strings

NEW YORK (AP) — Carmen Basilio's co-managers said Wednesday they hope to know in about 10 days about the chances of a late March middleweight title rematch with Sugar Ray Robinson.

Robinson's indecision and out-of-the-ring interests have delayed agreement on a date for the rematch.

NOTHING DEFINITE

"Nothing definite has been arranged," said Joe Netro, a co-manager of Basilio with Johnny De John. "We hope to know something in a week or 10 days."

Basilio said he will break away from the busy banquet circuit to start training Jan. 28 at Miami Beach.

"I'll be ready," said the champ. "But how long do we have to wait for this fellow?"

Basilio met with Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club. Harry Markson, IBC boxing director, said television proposals were explained to Basilio.

Markson said the "target date" is either March 18 or 25 at Chicago Stadium.

"We told Carmen about the propositions for closed-circuit or theatre-TV. We also are thinking of regular home television. If we went to home TV, the dates could be either Wednesday, March 19 or 26, or Friday, March 21 or 28."

Robinson, who hasn't collected his money from the first Basilio fight because of discussions with the tax people, is involved in court actions brought by two of his former managers. His lawyer conferred with Norris a few days ago.

"Robinson keeps saying he'll fight but he always attaches an if," said Markson. "If he can straighten out his tax matters, if he can straighten out the court action, etc. The latest thing he told us was that he would fight—if we could give him the right sort of a financial deal."

CALGARY — Calgary Stampeders, getting superb netminding from Al Rollins in the second period, stretched their unbeaten streak to four games in the prairie division of the Western Hockey League here last night with a 4-2 victory over Edmonton Flyers.

Rollins, who had to make only three saves in the first period and five in the third, turned in a spectacular chore in the middle frame. Stampeders were outshot, 17-5, in the period but scored the only goal as Steve Witiuk broke a 2-2 tie.

Chuck Blair and Barry Ross scored for the Stamps in the first period while Howie Yanosik and Frank Roggeveen tallied for the second-place Flyers. Enio Sclisizzi wound up scoring in the third period.

Clubs Face Big Decisions At Weekend Grid Meetings

WINNIPEG (CP)—All backfielders will likely be allowed to block 10 yards beyond the line of scrimmage in Canada's major professional football leagues next fall as a result of weekend meetings here.

Spokesmen say the question of extended blocking is almost sure to come up at meetings Friday and Saturday of the eastern Big Four and the five-team Western Interprovincial Football Union as well as the sessions Friday and Sunday of the Canadian Football Council on which the nine teams are represented.

Backs now may block only up to the line of scrimmage unless they line up outside the ends.

Linemen and no more than two backs lined up as flankers now may block 10 yards.

Western teams have favored more blocking for the backfielders for years and the Big Four now has agreed that it wants the change.

IMPORT PROBLEM

The question of how many imports will be allowed each team is expected to provide at least as much discussion as the rule change.

The Big Four agreed at a meeting Jan. 5 on a proposal that to cut import costs the limit on American players should be set at 13 after each team's third scheduled game, with only 12 playing in a game.

The 1957 rule allowed each team to play only 12 imports in a game. However, a team could have as many imports as it wanted until after its third game.

Among the Western teams, Winnipeg favors retaining the 1957 rule; Edmonton and Saskatchewan Roughriders appear to want the number cut to eight from 12, and B.C. Lions and Calgary want an import boost, possibly to a minimum of 14.

Interlocking of the Big Four and WIFU schedules is expected to be another big subject for discussion during the sessions.

The Big Four stand is that the idea isn't feasible for this year but it will be free to give the matter more serious consideration when its present television contract expires at the end of the 1958 season.

The Stampeders, in a demand for a professional football set-up in Canada similar to the National Football League in the United States, said:

"The NFL has augmented the appeal of football as entertainment with smart promotion and the realization that the league can best prosper as an entity—not as a number of individuals cutting each other's throats at every turn."

Alberta Puck League . . . . . In Rules Experiment

Fans, Players Like Change in Rules

By RICHARD ANCO

CALGARY (CP)—Western Canada hockey fans took a look at international hockey rules in action Tuesday night and the general feeling was decidedly favorable.

The biggest weekday crowd this season turned out to see southern Alberta's Big Six intermediate hockey league initiate regulations of the International Ice Hockey Federation in a twin bill. The seven-team league is the first in Canada to adopt IIHF rules.

A wide majority of fans, players, coaches, and executives agreed the stricter rules provided a faster, wide-open game; better stickhandling, sharper passing patterns and cleaner play which is sure to reduce injuries to players. The referees also liked the faster brand of hockey.

The Big Six earlier this season decided to adopt international hockey rules as an experiment following the reaction of eastern fans who saw the Russian Selects play Canadian teams under such regulations.

The league will continue with them for the remaining 38 games of the season but will revert to Canadian Amateur Hockey Association standards for the playoffs.

Nearly 1,500 fans were at the Stampede Corral to see Calgary Junior Reps defeat Calgary Beavers 6-4 in the first game of the experiment while Calgary Adderson Hustlers whipped Okotoks Oilers 7-3 in the second tilt. Largest weekday crowd before Tuesday had been 850.

League President John Watson said time now was needed to get both players and referees used to the stricter rules, and the result would be an improvement in the game.

"A player can now go after a puck without being afraid he will be rammed through the boards," he explained.

Aubrey Winter, referee in the opening game, said he found the game cleaner, freer and faster. Players stuck to playing hockey instead of bruising each other.

Less enthusiasm came from Al Rollins, former National Hockey League netminder now with Calgary Stampeders of the professional Western Hockey League, and Gus Kyle, Stampeder coach. They felt some of the color and thrills may have been taken from the game.

Fred Gardner, centre with Junior Reps, and leftwinger Pat Cooney of Hustlers, each fired three goals. Showering in their dressing rooms after the games they had nothing but praise for the new rules.

"At least a player can stickhandle in on the net instead of being chopped down by rough defencemen," Gardner said.

Rollins, however, felt the stricter rules would "spoil the league." Fans came out for the thrills, he said, and some of the excitement was lost with international rules.

Watson noted that WHL referees had been instructed this week by president Al Leader to "crack down" on present regulations. He hoped a stricter enforcement of Canadian rules would bring a cleaner game to professional hockey.

Rumbles of Discontent

Three British Teams Reach Soccer Final

LONDON (AP) — Britain Wednesday qualified a third team for the World Soccer Cup in Sweden next June and took a big step toward putting a fourth in the 16-country final.

Northern Ireland advanced over Italy 2-1 in a Belfast game that was completed peaceably, although it was marked by the ejection of an Italian player in the second half. It was in marked contrast to the "friendly" game between the teams Dec. 4.

Italy, World Cup champions in 1934 and 1938, failed to reach the finals for the first time. The Italians needed only a draw to advance.

In Tel Aviv, Wales gained a 2-0 decision over Israel and needs only to gain a draw in the second leg at Cardiff Feb. 5.

The result brought some angry protests from the Italians over the action of Hungarian referee Istvan Zsolt in expelling Italian winger Alcide Chiggiolo Wednesday. There also were rumbles of discontent over the apparent trend to turn the World Cup competition into a sort of British Empire possession.

England and Scotland already had won through to the final. Northern Ireland was the third British team to qualify and Wales is almost certain to be the fourth.

The whole of South America has only three finalists—Argentina, Brazil and Paraguay. Mexico represents Central America. The other eight teams are Russia, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Austria, France, West Germany, Sweden and Yugoslavia.

Blasts IBC Pressure

Spieser Blames Frustration On Decision to Quit Boxing

DETROIT (AP)—Chuck Spieser, who still thinks he can "beat anybody my weight if the desire and determination are there," Wednesday abandoned boxing and his seventh ranking as a light heavyweight.

"I'll never fight again," said the 28-year-old former Michigan State and Olympic athlete. He will become a salesman for a Detroit paper company.

Spieser's retirement followed weeks of frustration in attempts to line up a title bout with light heavyweight champion Archie Moore. Chuck and his brother-manager, Joe, corralled $55,000 of a proposed $100,000 guarantee for Moore, but couldn't sell television rights.

Both blamed the television failure to pressure on networks and sponsors by the International Boxing Club. The IBC denied any such pressure.

"IT'S A MONOPOLY"

"Frustration had something to do with it," Spieser said of his move after six years as a professional. "Of course, the IBC was behind it (failure of the Moore fight to materialize) in my mind. It's a monopoly, but you can't pin it down to that."

Brother Joe said: "The IBC ought to be real happy about this because when Moore's gone there won't be a light heavyweight they don't control."

Spieser had been scheduled to fight Bobby Layne of Miami here Feb 1. It would have been his first bout since he was knocked out for the first time. Tony Anthony did it last April.

The loss knocked Spieser out of his No. 1 challenger ranking and got Anthony a shot at Moore's title. Archie punched Anthony into insensibility in the seventh round of their September scrap.

Spieser turned pro in 1952 and won 19 fights. He lost five and drew in one. He was married last summer and is an expectant father.

"I'm not worried about money," he said. "I've got $6,000 in bonds and a house. I'm in the best physical condition I've ever been in, but it doesn't connect up with my mind. I don't know what it is. I'm not afraid.

"I don't want to hit my sparring partners. I try to make myself mad in there. I didn't use to have to do that. It came naturally. I'm sick of the boxing racket . . .

"Sure, I'm sorry I didn't get a crack at the title, but I'm not going to cry about it. I feel bad about quitting, but I put my peace of mind over everything else."

Spieser said his frustrations began when Hector Knowles of Chicago was his manager. He described Knowles as "in with the IBC because his wife is secretary to Arthur Wirtz." He added that Knowles wasn't the manager type.

World's Best Shuttle Players Enter Canadian Tourney Here

The 1958 Canadian Open badminton tournament, to be held in Victoria March 5-8, took on the air of a world championship event yesterday with the entry of three of the outstanding players in the game today.

Officials of the Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club, which will host the Dominion championships this year, announced that acceptances have been received from Eddie Choong of Malaya and Susie and Judy Devlin of Baltimore.

Choong, who has appeared in Victoria on several occasions, is a former world singles champion and still ranks among the top three or four men's singles players. The Devlin sisters are acknowledged to be the best doubles team in the world.

Entry of the three provides an outstanding addition to an entry list that already shows many of the great names in badminton.

Among those already entered are Dave McTaggart of Vancouver, defending open singles champion; Don Smythe and Bud Porter of Toronto, who won the open doubles event last year, and Marg Shedd and Kathryn Grant of Toronto.

FOUR-TIME WINNER

Smythe is the only player to win the open singles championship four times. Mrs. Grant is a former ladies' singles champion, and once won the mixed doubles title with William Purcell, who is also entered in this year's tournament.

It is also expected that the complete Canadian Thomas Cup team will enter, when it is chosen, and it is probable that the U.S. Thomas Cup team, headed by Joe Alston of Washington, D.C., will sign up. Alston is the top-ranking American singles player.

Meanwhile, plans are going ahead to prepare the Amphion Street badminton hall for the rush during the tournament.

Renovations are being made to enlarge the men's locker facilities and the lounge is being redecorated. Little has to be done to the courts, once described by Choong as "the best courts I have ever played on."

Although the Canadian Open is of uppermost importance, city badminton enthusiasts are beginning to prepare for the annual city championships, scheduled Jan. 27 Feb. 1 at the Amphion Street hall.

FOUR DIVISIONS

This year's tournament will be split into four divisions in order to provide a category for players of every calibre. Division "A" is open to all players. Division "B" is open to any player who has not won an "A" or "B" title in the event he wishes to enter for the past five years.

Division "C" is for players who have not played for one or two years, or who are classed as fourth or fifth division players in a league. Final event is the veterans' class, for men 40 years and over and women 35 years and over.

Events include the open men's and women's singles and the men's and women's doubles and mixed doubles in all divisions.

All events begin at 7 p.m. and will be played up to the finals on the night they are scheduled. Finals in all events are set for Saturday, Feb. 1.

Information as to what night the various events are scheduled may be obtained by phoning the badminton club.

Gump Earns Another Chance; Fans Lead to Boston Switch

Marcel Paille, who was given a two-game, "produce or else" ultimatum by New York Rangers a week ago, was sent back to the minors yesterday and Lorne Worsley, as he had promised he would, returned to the National Hockey League club.

Paille, regarded by Ranger general manager Muzz Patrick as "an outstanding prospect," replaced Worsley in the nets for Providence in the American Hockey League, where Worsley has reportedly been turning in some of the best goal-tending of his career.

Worsley had a 2.2 goal average, best in the NHL, when he pulled a groin muscle and was replaced by Paille with the season only 10 games old. Paille did some spectacular goal-tending during his early games, then tailed off a bit. In his last seven games with the Rangers he gave up 38 goals.

Patrick said Paille was "under so much pressure" that the Ranger brass felt a change would benefit him.

When Worsley plays against Boston Bruins tonight, he will be facing another veteran returning to the big time. Harry Lumley, 31-year-old former star with Detroit Red Wings, Chicago Black Hawks and Toronto Maple Leafs, becomes the fifth goalie the Bruins have used in two seasons.

It's a tough spot for anyone. Lumley is replacing Al Millar, himself a substitute for regular Don Simmons, and Bruin general manager Lynn Patrick admits Millar was sacrificed on the altar of fan pressure.

Bruins have slipped badly since Millar took over. New Year's Day and the crowds have laid most of the blame on Millar, although Patrick says his forwards are at fault.

"Personally, I think Millar is a good goalkeeper," Patrick said Tuesday. "He showed a lot of promise, but somehow the fans got down on him and that can hurt you in this town."

In another major NHL development Jean Beliveau, out of the Montreal Canadiens' lineup since Dec. 12 with a rib separation, will return to action tonight against Toronto Maple Leafs.

His return leaves only Maurice "Rocket" Richard out of the power-packed Montreal lineup, and the Rocket is back skating in practice.

Nanaimo Loss Due to Help For Lacrosse

NANAIMO (CP)—The civic arena could have more than wiped out its 1957 operating deficit of $3,783 if it had not subsidized senior lacrosse, retiring arena manager Bill Oliver told the park commission Monday night.

"It costs $13,000 to operate the arena in the summer, and of a revenue of $8,000, more than half was given away in the form of subsidies for senior and junior lacrosse," Oliver said.

The commission should "take a second look" at the value of summer operation and ask itself whether it "is worth it." The city had paid out more than $15,000 in lacrosse subsidies in the last five years.

Scotland Qualifies for Final

Powerful Hearts Providing Brighter Outlook for Fans

By ROGER STONEBANKS

LONDON (CP)—Scottish soccer fans, looking at the world through tartan-colored spectacles, are happy about 1958 prospects.

The first reason for elation is that Scotland is among the 16 qualifying nations for the World Cup championship, to be held in Stockholm next June.

The second is that Heart of Midlothian, an Edinburgh club, threatens to break all English records for most points collected, most goals scored and least goals conceded in major league soccer.

The Edinburgh team, which is to tour Canada next May and June, had 36 points from 20 games just after the season's halfway mark. Unbeaten at home, they had lost only one game away. The goal tally read 82 for, 14 against and they were 11 points ahead of their nearest rivals, Clyde.

The main reason for Hearts' dominance in Scotland's First Division is the decline of Rangers and Celtic, the two Glasgow clubs that have dominated Scottish soccer for the last 50 years. Another Edinburgh team formerly prominent, Hiberian, has also lost ground.

Rangers began rebuilding their somewhat elderly team in mid-season and Celtic and Hibernian slipped after each suffered four beatings in a row.

LITTLE COMPETITION

In a Scotland "Under-23" team against Young England these four clubs provided seven players. The situation highlights the problem of Scottish soccer—apart from a few top clubs there is little real competition.

The number of goals scored in Scottish games is another example. Scores of 8-0 and 7-3 are common and underline the disparity between clubs.

The standard of most Scottish clubs compares with English Third Division sides. Top clubs, like Hearts, probably would rate First Division status if playing in English soccer.

Scottish professional clubs compete in two divisions, first and second, and there is a reserve section which roughly corresponds to south England's combination league of professional club juniors.

Mt. Douglas Booters Score Win in Opener

Mt. Douglas High School opened the inter-high senior soccer league season on a winning note yesterday by blanking Mount View, 1-0, at Reynolds Road Park.

The teams battled through a scoreless first half but Neil Paget booted in the only goal of the match after Mount View goalie Jerry Coldwell had bobbled Phil Little's drive. Mt. Douglas netminder Brian Lindsay also had a hand in the victory, making several fine saves.

Victoria High edged Victoria College, 1-0, in an exhibition match yesterday at the Fernwood grounds. Robin Barnes made no mistake for the winning goal.

There was also inter-high girls' basketball yesterday with Esquimalt's senior rep team walloping Victoria High, 42-20, in exhibition play at Esquimalt. Pat Winterburn led the winners with 13 points while Sharon Armstrong topped Vic High with eight points.

New Buyers Appear

TORONTO (CP) — Fresh buying in the closing minutes Wednesday pushed the stock market to a moderate advance after nearly a whole session of slow-rising prices.

Western oils were the leaders in the late rally and their index closed with a gain of almost three points.

Calgary and Edmonton led western oils with a 1⅛ point jump to 20⅞. Merrill Pete was up 50 cents to $9.75. Bailey Selburn added 25 cents to $8.50.

Key industrials climbed in a wide range, led by utilities, refining oils and financial institutions.

Uraniums, golds and coppers joined base metals in an upward drive but gains among mines were smaller than in oils and industrials.

Pipelines Improve

Pipelines and some utilities led the advance. Interprovincial Pipeline rose 1½ to 40¾. Trans Mountain 1½ to 59 and Trans-Canada a point to 25¾. In utilities, Gatineau Power gained a point at 29¼ and Union Gas 3½ at 74½.

Most other groups moved up fractionally. B-A Oil improved ⅜ to 35¼ in the refining oil group. Bank of Montreal at 41¼ and Abitibi Paper at 25 showed gains of ⅝ each. Industrial Acceptance added ⅞ at 27 among miscellaneous stocks. Steel of Canada advanced ⅜ to 47.

Grain Prices

WINNIPEG (CP) — Dealings in Canadian coarse grains were on quiet lines. There were no reports of new export interest in coarse grains. However, reports here said 7,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat has been disposed of to India under authorization of the Canadian government.

Flax trade was quiet with support coming from export houses. The export business was believed to be connected with old business. Offerings were light and prices held firm.

Export loadings of Canadian wheat included: the United Kingdom, 1,003,000 bushels; Japan, 730,000; U.S.S.R., 340,000; The Netherlands, 170,000; Belgium, 130,000; West Germany, 75,000, and Denmark, 25,000.

CHICAGO (AP) — Most grain futures prices traded higher near the close after a weak opening.

The market sagged at the start under the weight of a carryover of selling orders but after they were absorbed some short-covering and export buying held prices near or slightly above the previous closes through most of the session.

Investors Encouraged

U.S. Opens Flood Gates

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

The United States is not going to allow tight-waddedness to stand in the way of a recovery from the current recession south of the line.

In an effort to make the new cheap-money policy move along a little faster, the Federal Reserve Board last night informed U.S. investors that they could go right away on a new buying spree without adding to their current capital resources.

The board decreased the margin requirement on the stock markets from 70 per cent to 50 per cent.

This means that a person buying stock in the United States may borrow up to 50 per cent from a bank or other lender to finance his purchase. Since April 1955, the U.S. investor has had to pay for at least 70 per cent of the value of the stock.

The 70 per cent margin was imposed as a strictly anti-inflationary measure. It aimed to keep speculation in stocks at a minimum and there is little doubt that the stability of the New York stock exchange in recent months has been largely due to the adoption of this measure.

Now that Wall Street is ridden with shorts, and the stock market is stagnating for lack of incentive, the Federal Reserve Board no doubt feels that a loosening of the regulations will do more harm than good.

Although the change was not announced until after the close of the market, Wall Street was firm all day as if it expected some new encouragement.

On the western exchanges which do not close until several hours after Wall Street, the news brought sharp gains in many issues.

This was particularly noted in the Canadian shares which are either inter-listed or enjoy some favor on the other side of the line.

At Vancouver, Westcoast Transmission, closely linked with El Paso Natural Gas, was up over $1 at $28. Trans-Canada Pipeline, Canadian Delhi and Northern Ontario Gas were other issues to make a quick response.

It should be noted that the Federal Reserve Board's action is not likely to find a parallel in Canada, because the Bank of Canada did not follow the U.S. lead in 1955, and the marginal requirements in this country have not moved from 50 per cent.

The change in the States, however, could be reflected in Canada through new U.S. purchases in Canadian growth equities.

Strength in Rails

NEW YORK (UP) — Oil issues featured a modest rise in the stock market.

Gains in oils ranged to 3 points in Texas Gulf Producing. Getty was strong and up 2 at its best.

Railroad shares registered advances running to more than a point. Ingersoll-Rand was strong in the road builders. J. C. Penney made a new high in the store issues. Johns Manville and U.S. Gypsum stood out in the building equipments. Aircrafts met some profit-taking. Du Pont was the favorite in the chemicals.

The late rally capped a day of idle, routine trading. Announcement in Washington of House approval of an emergency bill authorizing $549,670,000 worth of missile-age military construction designed to "save up to a year in construction time" helped spur interest.

A long list of stocks which could be expected to benefit from stepped up spending strengthened. Steels, aircrafts, metals, missile issues all showed improvement over early levels.

Domestic corporate bonds moved irregularly higher with gains ranging around a point in some rails. U.S. government bonds were marked off ¼ to 1 point in moderately active dealings.

Cadets Sail Today on Cruise of a Lifetime

Swabbing decks can be part of the thrill of a lifetime. Those three Vancouver Island sea cadets do all this and more from Western Canada who start today on a cruise to the Orient—and not all their years in Far East ports will be from the deck of a warship. From left are Michael Roberts of Victoria, Marvin Schultz of Nanaimo and George A. Smith of Port Alberni.

A cruise like this has to be earned and the three lads here had stories on HMCS Margaree, submarine destroyer escort of the Second Canadian Escort Squadron.—(Colonist photos by Bud Kneschke)

Chance at a warship's wheel will be one of the duties of the cadets and Cadet PO Roberts, 18½, Fernhill Road, whose only other big cruise was emigrating from England six years ago, gives it a preliminary try.

Heaving a bowline—or preparing to take off, in landlubber's language—are the boys again in page 17. Cadet PO Smith, Leading Cadet Smith, and Cadet PO Roberts. They'll learn all general seamanship duties and see the world. Other ships of squadron on training cruise are the Crusader, Cayuga, Sioux and Fraser.

Liberals Healthy, Rushed

OTTAWA (BUP) — Liberals attending the party's convention are apparently a healthy lot. There has been little demand for first aid service during the first two days.

But the St. John Ambulance Corps did have something to say regarding Liberals' eating and sleeping habits.

"They don't sleep or eat at the right times, so they suffer from upset tummies and rushing around accounts for sore feet.

Young Grits Up in Arms Over 'Gag'

OTTAWA (CP)—A group of young Liberals took a crack at party brass Wednesday, charging that "dictation through central control" was gagging free and spontaneous discussion from the floor at the party's national convention.

Allan Cantor of Winnipeg, president of the Manitoba Young Liberals Federation, took a lead in the protest, maintaining an individual delegate "can't get himself heard without going through a lot of red tape."

RELUCTANCE CITED

"And so far there appears to be reluctance by those in central control to allow people to come out and say what they want to say," he cited.

Chairman of the [illegible] session, [illegible] Mr Cantor's proposal but Mr Power's ruling was booed by four or five University of Toronto delegates.

The protest gained headway when 23-year-old Therese Gurofday of Winnipeg in seconding a resolution on free trade in a half-empty hall, called on Mr Power, to "relay my protest to the brass" that she was getting little convention attention.

"We asked to speak when the hall was full," she said referring to Mr Cantor's earlier remarks. "And we're not crowded [illegible] and you can see why we [illegible]."

A spokesman for Britain's Roman Catholic social workers agreed with Dr. Fisher.

Child Dislodges Swallowed Tack

Two-year-old Maureen Neff of Nanaimo, who was rushed to Royal Jubilee Hospital in Victoria Tuesday after swallowing a tack, was returned home to Nanaimo yesterday afternoon.

The child, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doug Neff, was in dangerous condition until continued swallowing en route to Victoria shifted the tack.

After being treated in Victoria, hospital officials said she had been sent home and was to remain quiet.

Macmillan Visits Khyber Pass

Tribal Heroes Parade

JAMRUD FORT, Khyber Pass (Reuters) — Sixty tribal leaders loaded floral garlands around the neck of Prime Minister Macmillan Wednesday and gave the British leader the traditional Pathan tribesmen's greeting: "Welcome, come in peace."

Mr. Macmillan, the first British Prime Minister to visit the Khyber, made the 1,000-mile trip from Karachi to the frontier mountains near Peshawar with Lady Dorothy Macmillan and Pakistan's Prime Minister Malik Feroz Khan Noon.

Macmillan's Britannia aircraft landed in the bright early morning sunshine on a runway not paved to take the latest jet of the general staff, Maj. Gen. M. Musa.

He was greeted by the West Pakistan chief minister, Sardar Abdul Rashid, central food minister Abdul Latif Shah and the minister, Mr. Jabbar Shah.

Old Soldiers Travel Miles For Moving Ceremony

* * *

Macmillan moved slowly down a line of about 150 men whose chests glistened with British medals, the Order of British India, the Military Cross and the Military Medal.

Macmillan informally chatted to veterans of the Tirah campaign of the 19th century. Many of them had come from far-flung villages to be there.

I regard it as a very great honour to myself and to my country that you have come so far today, he said. I bring to you from the people of the United Kingdom good wishes, happy memories of the past and hope for the future.

NOTICE

re Trade Mark on Fresh Oranges

The registered trade mark Sunkist is clearly stamped on the skin of only the very highest grade of California oranges. Look for this Sunkist stamp—it is there for your protection in buying the finest quality.

Caution Genuine Sunkist Oranges are never, never stamped with any other name. If you are offered a substitute for Sunkist quality—remember that there is no substitute for the finest brand of oranges. If an orange is not stamped Sunkist it is not "just as good".

Wonderful new recipes from NEPTUNE'S KITCHEN

Every day new seafood recipes are being tested in Neptune's Kitchen and the best of them are passed along to you by the director, Mary Ross.

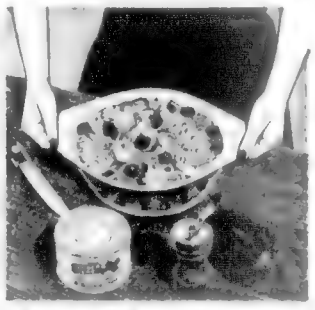
CLOVER LEAF salmon-corn casserole

1 Boil 1 cup noodles in salted water. Drain and pour into buttered 2½ quart casserole. Drain 1 tin niblet corn. Drain two ½ lb. tins or one 1 lb. tin Clover Leaf Salmon.

2 Mix salmon and corn with noodles in casserole. (Notice everything's done in one dish.) Add 2 tbsp. diced green pepper and ½ cup canned mushrooms (sliced or button). Season lightly.



3 Cover with 1 cup cheese sauce and mix gently. Sprinkle with ½ cup grated cheese. Bake at 350° for 30 minutes. Garnish with green peppers and paprika. Serves six.

Clover Leaf Shortcuts to Good Eating

EASY SALMON ROLLS — Mix and roll out 1 pkg. biscuit mix. Lightly butter. Spread over it one ½ lb. tin drained and flaked Clover Leaf Salmon. Roll up like a jelly roll. Bake 20 minutes at 400°. Garnish with white sauce and serve with green peas. Serves 4-6.

SALMON IN SOUR CREAM — Drain one or two ½ lb. tins Clover Leaf Salmon and place whole in a baking dish slightly larger than the fish. Cover with ½ cup sour cream and 6 thin lemon slices. Sprinkle with chopped parsley and bake 20 minutes at 350°. Serves 2-4 people.

For more good recipes, write to Neptune's Kitchen, 1128 West Pender St., Vancouver, B.C.

Delinquency Healthy Sign

WINNIPEG (BUP) — A U.S. expert on adolescent behavior, Bertram M. Beck, says juvenile delinquency can sometimes be a healthy sign of individuality.

He said conformity is not necessarily a good thing, and open, obvious delinquency is often the easiest to control.

"It's the other adolescent — the one whose behavior may not be so obviously different but who has certain mental quirks, who is the real problem," he said.

'Would Stop Development'

than to marry so early she would be "economically dependent on her husband," the judge said.

Lumber Prospect Brighter

VANCOUVER (CP) — A brighter market this year for B.C. lumber was predicted yesterday by the president of the Truck Loggers Association.

Business has been extra bad, but there is sufficient fact to make for optimism, said President H. C. McLaughlin of Campbell River.

He was speaking to delegates at the opening of the 14th annual convention here. Around 1000 delegates and friends are attending the three-day gathering.

Expanded housing programs in Canada and the U.S. should help sales to pick up and our overseas markets are reasonably promising, he added.

Florida Farmers Fight Frost

Farmer Mike Roeder walks through his Florida avocado and mango grove as a huge pump belches forth thousands of gallons of heated water over his trees in an effort to fight the damaging frost. Second cold wave gripped the citrus belt just hours after a killing frost caused $100,000 worth of damage. Roeder's spray outfit is mounted on a truck which he keeps moving to cover the entire grove.

Canada Delivers Oil Protest Note

WASHINGTON (UP) — Canada yesterday lodged a strong protest with the United States against voluntary import quotas on Canadian oil.

The protest was delivered by N. A. Robertson, Canadian ambassador, during a half-hour meeting with Deputy Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy.

The envoy shied away from describing the note as a protest. He said the text will likely be made public in Parliament Friday.

Britons Diagnose . . . . . . Unsatisfactory State

Parliament Put on Trial

LONDON (CP) — In a much-used and generally found opinion almost as old as parliamentary democracy itself, prominent Britons are currently engaged in a searching scrutiny of the effectiveness of their government system.

In the letters and editorial columns of leading newspapers, in the pulpits and in the clubs and boardrooms, the question is being posed: Is the British parliamentary system still the best in the world? Or has it been dangerously slowed down by the rise of the modern mass political party, by the growth of the welfare state and the complexities of modern life?

Would the critics agree that Parliament is being slowed down? Some would point to the fact that the backbenchers, the rank and file members of the MPs, have gained a great deal of power over the past decade.

A Times editorial argues that only parliament can give the executive its authority. Without it, it says, the government would be a dictatorship. To the critics, the answer is that the House of Commons has delegated its authority to committees and commissions, thus diluting the power of the House. Critics point to the "delegated" bodies of experts who make decisions on the rates of pay for workers, on the rents without producing a report to the House, on the terms of service of civil servants, on the rates of pay of the armed forces, on the rates of pay of the police, on the terms of service of the civil service, on the rates of pay of the judges, on the rates of pay of the ministers and parliamentary secretaries, on the rates of pay of the members of the House of Commons, on the rates of pay of the members of the House of Lords

TV TALK

By Bruce Lowther

"People aren't getting what they want on television, they're getting what they are content with."

Those are the words of Stephen Bosustow, creator of the Mr. Magoo and Gerald McBoing Boing cartoons in a recent conversation with this writer. He was talking of pay-TV, and he was frank to say it means more money to him, or in his words, "we can hardly wait for pay-TV because we feel it will give the producer the chance to make as many programs as are acceptable."

With pay-TV, said Mr. Bosustow, viewers "will get the kind of top-quality features they now are getting in theatres and they'll be able to select exactly what they want instead of having advertisers choose it for them."

He did not deny that commercials might appear on pay-TV or that the public would lose shows it supports now, but insisted pay-TV would be more popular than present TV. As for the possibility that the pay system might close all movie theatres, he answered, "Did TV close down the radio stations? No, people will always want to go out."

TV BITS: The new Liberal leader takes over a telecast on channels 2 and 6 at 6 p.m. today. The convention has eliminated a CBC repeat of the Jack Benny Shower of Stars. Playhouse 90 looks good, Alan Young guests with Rosemary Clooney and "Court Martial" is a fine movie. By way of a Tuesday review, the new comedy team of Mike Nichols and Elaine May stole the special Omnibus show from Bert Lahr, establishing themselves as TV stars. The parody of a 1920's musical also was highly amusing. It was one of the season's funniest shows. . . Elvis Presley says he wants to do a guest shot on Big Record. His fee is around $50,000.

CBS thinks it can find holes next season for these new shows: Great Montague (Sir Cedric Hardwicke), Guestward Ho (Jeanne Crain), Personal and Private, Mickey Rooney, Collector's Item (Vincent Price and Peter Lorre), Front Office (Ralph Bellamy) and a one hour western called Rendezvous. Hal March has heed up a new comedy series for himself and starts filming soon. . . Mickey Spillane series starts on channel 5 Sunday at 10.30. . . Adam Kennedy has quit as star of Californians. No reasons given. . . Alex Gottlieb, producer of Love That Jill, which starts on channel 5 Monday, says: "We've had far too much married love in TV comedies. This time we hope to give the public plain unadulterated adult sex."

Rita Del Mar's Daily Astrology

THURSDAY, JAN. 16

Today's quotation: "In reality, there is, perhaps, no one of our natural passions so hard to subdue as pride. Disguise it, struggle with it, beat it down, stifle it, mortify it as much as one pleases, it is still alive, and will every now and then peep out and show itself." —Benjamin Franklin.

Thursday for everyone: Awareness and careful judgment will enable you to sidestep the irritations of tendencies to loss inherent in a hasty or thoughtless program. Protect your interests, be slow to take on added responsibilities.

Look for Your Birthdate and Birthsign Below.

March 21 to April 19 (Aries)—Be forebearing if any delays slow you down en route or with plans, appointments. Resourcefulness helps.

April 20 to May 20 (Taurus)—Review joint monetary items; use care on records, sums due you. Let others pay their share.

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini)—Teammates, people at large are subject to ups and downs today; don't bank on them.

June 21 to July 22 (Cancer)—Refuse to be downed by misgivings or care; fit in; exert ingenuity to get along.

July 23 to Aug. 22 (Leo)—Take time out for necessary rest or finishing tasks. Limit spending, risks.

Aug. 23 to Sept. 22 (Virgo)—Table your own interests for the moment in favor of those who depend on you. Be impersonal, tactful.

Sept. 23 to Oct. 22 (Libra)—Preserve an open mind, be cautious en route and re committing yourself. Shun contention; accent courtesy.

Oct. 23 to Nov. 21 (Scorpio)—Be economical, wary re possessions and the bankroll today. Protect basic securities.

Nov. 22 to Dec. 21 (Sagittarius)—Keep your appearance, mannerisms pleasing despite tests. Treat those around you with tact.

Dec. 22 to Jan. 19 (Capricorn)—Do not give way to any urge for solitude today. Finish tasks; banish anxieties.

Jan. 20 to Feb. 18 (Aquarius)—Choose a careful course—you share the trend toward instability. Select companions judiciously; be dutiful.

Feb. 19 to March 20 (Pisces)—Use good judgment, wise planning to stay on top with influential people. Be patient.

Prediction: Fly the Atlantic for $50

A dirigible body on either side of a giant wing is the design of future trans-ocean airliners, according to aviation expert Frank Tinsley. He believes the design would allow for hundreds of passengers each trip at a cost of around $50 for a trans-Atlantic flight. His design shows observation areas in forward sections of the wing and on the sides of the dirigibles. He says the ship could fly at around 100 mph and would be relatively cheap to build and operate.

Lord Chancellor's Challenge:

'Prove Western Way Is Worth Sacrifice'

TORONTO (CP) — Britain's Lord Chancellor says the West must prove its way of life worth the sacrifice necessary to match Russia's power of destruction.

Viscount Kilmuir, who as Sir David Maxwell Fyfe was chief British prosecutor at the Nuernberg war crimes trials, said Tuesday the foundation of the new way of life must be a morality which can keep the world from nuclear disaster.

QUALITIES OF MIND

In the first of two Sir Robert Falconer lectures, he told an audience of more than 700 at the University of Toronto the nuclear age emphasizes the importance of the need for qualities of mind and spirit necessary to eliminate "the misuse of scientific achievement."

The standards of conduct of the British common law were a worthy basis for world confidence, particularly since "it continues to govern more than a third of the world today."

But, he said, "we must make clear our basic thoughts and underlying beliefs to those who sympathize with us as well as to those with whom we disagree."

Misunderstanding of aims and motives was one of the greatest dangers to world peace. He found it difficult to understand use of the word "colonialism" as a term of abuse when applied to Britain.

"Since the last war 500,000,000 people in the British Commonwealth have received independence. During the same period, over 100,000,000 people have been brought under domination of Russian communism."

He said Britons not only applied a system of freedom of the individual to themselves, but encouraged its adoption among those whom they governed.

He also urged a greater sense of personal responsibility to the community.

"What I should like to see is a community where membership of any professional or commercial society or trade union is a guarantee that as a matter of loyalty to the association as well as a duty to the client, customer or employer, the member will on all occasions in the everyday work as well as he possibly can and according to the highest standards of the job."

Court Adjourns Sunday Charges

TORONTO (BUP) — Magistrate Thomas Elmore yesterday adjourned until Feb. 19 hearing of charges against the city's three daily newspapers, private radio station CKEY and the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, all charged with violating the Lord's Day Act by engaging in news and advertising activities on Sunday.

City Artists Given Awards By Dr. Neel

Five awards were presented by Dr. Boyd Neel, dean of the Royal Conservatory of Music, Toronto, to Victoria examination candidates during his visit to this city in the past week.

Silver medals for highest marks in B.C. were given to Claudia Jean Beicher, Grade VI speech arts, and Barbara Ann Court, Grade II violin. Pianists Phillip Adamson (junior) and Janice Hickman (intermediate) won Victoria chapter alumni bursaries.

Dr. Neel also presented a conservatory performer's associate diploma to pianist Joanne Dawson, who won the open piano competition at the 1957 Greater Victoria music festival. Award winners, soprano Margaret Abbott, an alumnus, and young pianists Margaret McEwen, Karen Dickson and Jean Bartholomew took part in a recital following the ceremony at the home of Dr. and Mrs. T. H. Johns, Somass Drive.

Twice in High Mountains

Russian Scientist Sees Abominable Snowman

MOSCOW (AP)—A Soviet scientist claims he saw an "abominable snowman" twice last August in the Pamir Mountains of southeast Russia. It was "a man-like creature," he reported.

Several Western expeditions have sought the legendary creature in the Himalaya Mountains, part of the "roof of the world" that includes the Pamirs, but have found only footprints and wisps of hair.

A. G. Pronin told a correspondent of Komsomol Pravda in Leningrad that he saw a Yeti, or abominable snowman, last Aug. 10 and 13.

Pronin was a member of a Soviet scientific expedition to the Pamirs, Russia's highest mountains in the corner formed by western China and Afghanistan.

Pronin said he was near the edge of the Fedchenko glacier when he saw the snowman lined against the top of a cliff more than 1,500 feet above him.

It was "a man-like creature walking on two feet, stooped, and wearing no clothes; he was stocky, with long extremities, and his body was covered with reddish-grey wool."

"At first sight I thought it it was a bear, but after more careful study it became clear this was no bear but a man-like creature.

"Evidently before me was one of the so-called snowmen. He walked out of his cave for a distance of some 600 feet and then disappeared beyond the edge of the cliff."

More People May Get Social Assistance Aid

Abolition of residence requirements for all social assistance and social security programs was one of the most significant suggestions made at a social security conference in Ottawa last week, the two Victoria delegates said yesterday.

William Hooson, city welfare administrator, and David Woodsworth, director of the Family and Children's Service, attended the conference from Victoria.

The suggestions would make social assistance and old-age pensions available to a much larger group.

It was also proposed to do away with "categorized" assistance such as mothers' allowance, blind assistance and others.

"It was felt we should not make one group more eligible, because we like what is wrong with them more than we like what's wrong with another," Mr. Woodsworth said.

The Canadian Welfare Council will study all proposals.

Critical Remarks

Parks Committee Takes Stock of Job

City council parks committee took most of the first hour of its first meeting this week looking over its assignments with critical eyes.

Health, for instance, is one of the committee's responsibilities, and Ald. M. H. Mooney said he was "shocked at that" because none of the three members had been appointed to the Victoria - Esquimalt health board.

"Highways" also came under the committee, he said, but roads were a public works responsibility.

Ald. D. J. Proudfoot suggested that Fountain Circle was part of a highway.

"If it is, we'll handle it," Ald. Mooney (public works chairman last year) said with enthusiasm, but without real hope.

He also noted that the committee was supposed to be in charge of beautification, an important subject in centennial year, but did not have one of its members on the Capital Improvement District Commission.

City Manager C. C. Wyatt explained that appointment of standing committees was the mayor's prerogative and that the lists of responsibilities of each committee had been developed over the years.

Spurred by a warning from the city manager that council was going to have a difficult time this year keeping costs down, the committee refused to allow purchase of a $475 sod-cutter for the parks, and also voted to recommend that the parks administrator be allowed to spend only $4,000 of the $6,000 he wanted, before budget time, for replacement of water services in the boulevards.

Profit-Sharing Demand

'Misunderstood Or Distorted'

DETROIT (AP)—Walter P. Reuther says spokesmen for the automobile industry's Big Three either don't understand his profit-sharing and customer-rebate proposals, or they tried wilfully to distort them.

The United Auto Workers' chief referred to his union's 1958 contract demands, which were made public Monday and promptly criticized sharply in statements from General Motors, Ford and Chrysler Corp.

In a letter Tuesday to GM president Harlow H. Curtice, with leaders of the other two companies marked in for copies, Reuther said his plan was "based upon the right of workers and consumers to share in the fruits of advanced technology."

The UAW president accused General Motors of opposing profit-sharing for hourly-rated workers while maintaining a bonus plan based on dividing excess profits for top executives.

Reuther estimated that Curtice and other executives received a total of $635,000,000 in the 10 years between 1947 and 1956 under that plan.

He questioned whether "public confidence can best be built by a small group of General Motors executives sharing in the excess profits of the corporation while denying workers and consumers their rightful share."

Reuther's proposal, to be presented to a special UAW convention Jan. 22 and—if approved—to the motor industry in bargaining sessions beginning about April 1, calls for a sharing of above 10 per cent of net capital before taxes—25 per cent to employees, 25 per cent to car buyers in the form of rebates and 50 per cent to the company.

Whether the new proposal will apply in Canada will probably be decided by its reception at the convention.

Derailed by Dynamite

Train Just Misses Mountainside Plunge

GRAND FORKS, B.C. (CP) —A small passenger train was nearly hurled 100 feet down a mountainside Wednesday when it was derailed from tracks that had been blown apart with dynamite. The blast climaxed a series of recent bombings and attempted bombings in B.C.'s West Kootenay area.

None of the 20 to 30 passengers and crew aboard the train was injured. Although 300 feet of track was torn up or damaged, the train remained upright.

STEEP INCLINE

Moving at about 20 miles an hour down a steep incline, the engine went around a curve and over tracks that had been blown open some three hours before. The engine raced ahead about 50 feet after derailing, while a baggage car swung out toward the edge of the 100-foot drop. The lone passenger car remained on the track.

The bombing occurred 18 miles east of here—almost within sight of the American border —on Canadian Pacific Railway's scenic Kettle Valley line.

MORE VIOLENCE?

It almost automatically aroused fears of a recurrence of Sons of Freedom Doukhobor violence in the area. Only a few miles west of Wednesday's derailment, a train was dynamited in 1928, killing Doukhobor spiritual leader Peter (the Lordly) Verigin II and eight of his followers.

Investigators on the scene said they believed about 10 sticks of dynamite were used to knock out about 36 inches of track. The person or persons responsible were believed to have walked to the scene from the village of Fife, about a mile distant.

TRACKING DOG

RCMP, already busy investigating the unsuccessful planing of bombs in three Kootenay theatres last week and four bombings Dec. 17, arrived on the scene with a tracking dog to follow footprints leading away from the damaged section of track.

The bomb blew out two railway ties and left an 18-inch-deep hole under one rail.

MISSED TRAINS

It was planted only a few miles from where three feet of track were blown out a month ago, shortly after a passenger train from Vancouver passed through the area. A second explosion the same day narrowly missed a CPR track inspection crew.

Other explosions last month tore out a portion of a natural gas pipeline near Nelson and two power poles were blasted near Trail.

Mice Down To 1,000 An Acre

PORTLAND (AP) — The infestation of mice which has plagued farmers in central Oregon and adjacent states for months is about at an end.

Donald A. Spencer, of Denver, biologist with the U.S. fish and wildlife service, said yesterday that in most of the affected areas the mice now number not more than 1,000 to an acre, a 90-per-cent decline from a few weeks ago.

There is a four-year cycle of increase in the number of meadow mice, but last year the increase zoomed unexpectedly to one of the highest recorded levels in 30 or 40 years, he said.

Ten Die As Floor Collapses

ENNIS, Ireland (AP)—The floor of a local hotel collapsed at an auction sale yesterday. First reports said 10 persons were killed and 30 injured.

About 300 men, women and children were at the sale in an upstairs dining room when the floor gave way and sent many of them crashing through to the ground floor.

Screams mingled with moans from the injured as persons were pinned under rubble and crashing furniture.
